This course specification provides a summary of the main features of the course, identifies the aims and learning outcomes of the course, the teaching, learning and assessment methods used by teaching staff, and the reference points used to inform the curriculum.

This information is therefore useful to potential students to help them choose the right course of study, to current students on the course and to staff teaching and administering the course.

Further detailed information on the individual modules within the course may be found in the relevant module descriptors and the Course Handbook provided to students on enrolment.

Please refer to the Course and Module Catalogue for further information on the course structure and modules.

Educational aims of the course

- To provide a challenging and stimulating study environment
- To provide a framework allowing students to follow a coherent programme of study
- To enable students to study a multi-disciplinary subject and develop specialist interests and knowledge in legal, social, risk and security studies
- To provide an opportunity for students to create and understand links between the disciplines making up the field of risk and security management
- To provide students with the opportunity to develop key skills
- To foster knowledge of risk and security management in a multi-disciplinary context and critical engagement with its subject areas
- To enable students to begin to develop a more reflective and critical approach to their working environment
- To provide the opportunity to develop and pursue specialist knowledge and interests related to risk and security management
- To facilitate students understanding of and competence in a range of qualitative and quantitative research skills for exploring risk and security management
- To foster links and a greater understanding of the role and cultures of staff from other security, policing and criminal justice organisations
- To provide students with the necessary skills for lifelong learning and flexibility in the context of changing labour markets
- To provide students with the skills and knowledge that enable them to enhance their career development opportunities and access to postgraduate study
