This course specification provides a summary of the main features of the course, identifies the aims and learning outcomes of the course, the teaching, learning and assessment methods used by teaching staff, and the reference points used to inform the curriculum.

This information is therefore useful to potential students to help them choose the right course of study, to current students on the course and to staff teaching and administering the course.

Further detailed information on the individual modules within the course may be found in the relevant module descriptors and the Course Handbook provided to students on enrolment.

Please refer to the Course and Module Catalogue for further information on the course structure and modules.

Educational aims of the course

- To provide a challenging and stimulating study environment.
- To provide a framework which draws on a wide range of intellectual resources, theoretical perspectives and academic disciplines allowing students to follow a flexible coherent programme of study.
- To provide a high level of work-based learning.
- To develop technical and work specific skills underpinned by academic learning.
- To equip graduates with the necessary transferable skills for lifelong learning, employability and flexibility in the context of changing labour markets.
- To provide students with the skills and knowledge required to maximise career opportunities.

The specific aims of the Foundation Degree:

- To provide knowledge and critical understanding of the well-established principles required for supporting learning across the curriculum and across education phases.
- To deliver the professional and practical skills and competencies which are required to work in classrooms and other educational settings and which take into account the Teaching Assistant Standards, 2016.
- To enable students to undertake further training, develop existing skills, and acquire new competences that will enable them to assume responsibility within organisations.
- To ensure that students can demonstrate within their practice that they have adopted appropriate value and belief systems for learning environments. These values must include those relating to anti-discriminatory practice, equality of opportunity and ensuring inclusive practice.
- To develop students' self-awareness and reflection, including the ability to evaluate their interaction with other people in the work environment.
- To develop students' ability to understand and apply the principles of evidence-based practice.
- To provide an understanding of the regulatory and legislative framework for education across the phases and prepare students to work within this framework.

Disclaimer

The University of Portsmouth has checked the information provided in this Course Specification and will endeavour to deliver this course in keeping with this Course Specification. However, changes to the course may sometimes be required arising from annual monitoring, student feedback, and the review and update of modules and courses.

Where this activity leads to significant changes to modules and courses there will be prior consultation with students and others, wherever possible, and the University of Portsmouth will take all reasonable steps to minimise disruption to students.

It is also possible that the University of Portsmouth may not be able to offer a module or course for reasons outside of its control, for example, due to the absence of a member of staff or low student registration numbers. Where this is the case, the University of Portsmouth will endeavour to inform applicants and students as soon as possible, and where appropriate, will facilitate the transfer of affected students to another suitable course.
